Dear Karl:

I received your recent numismatic literary catalog. I was overcome with laughter with the inclusion of the comment about inflation. Please send me the source if you can.

I need Cassidy, The Illustrated History of Florida Paper Money. I also need a recent book on Mississippi Paper Money. Do you have either available for me or can you locate them?

Thanks .

My best. Eric

Hi Eric,

Thank you for letting me know that the ms did arrive.

Yes, I do realize you are rather busy (aren't the good people always like that?) but I figure that you should have the chance to review this in the next several weeks after a busy day doing other things numismatic.

I'm positive that you will find it quite interesting!

Will check back with you around the first week in July to prod you about writing a foreword.

Many thanks!

Best,
Karl.

Dear Karl:

Your ms arrived and I look forward to reading it and will try to find time to write a foreword. I am sorry I cannot be prompt about it because I am just flooded with writing and museum projects which have time constraints I cannot defer.

I am sure many are looking forward to your book. Eric

Hi Eric,

Hope the museum display is going along smoothly, and that you have Ben Franklin memorizing his lines about those counterfeits.

Have you opened the covers of the Voigt manuscript? If you have, that's wonderful. If not, may I suggest you find it and place it in the bathroom.

Will look forward to your reply. Thanks!

Best,
Karl

Hi Eric,

Thank you for the quick reply. I do understand completely about all of your activities.

Please do not fret about not being able to write a foreword, as we both originally figured it might not be something that could be worked into your schedule.

I wish you all the success on the museum outcome. It will be a grand legacy for you and your collections.

Stay well my friend.

Best,
Karl

Hi Eric,

Good find! Yes, I was aware of this development, and here's the details:

In 1962, Franklin purchased the assets of the Joseph K. Davidson and sons estate. There were thousands of medals included (many were made for the Olympics). In this group, Franklin got the 1889 dies of the Washington Centennial Inauguration done by Koch.

At the time, Bashlow was getting copies made of his CSA cents from the dies he just bought from Bowers. Franklin "coattailed" this activity getting approximately 150 of the Washington medals made. He took out a half page ad in Coin World trying to market them. I have this ad, and it will be included in the book.

This is when and why Dick Picker popularized the term "The Massapequa Mint". It had nothing to do with the Franklin Hoard material.

Hope that explains it.

Don Kagin and I are going to discuss parts of the draft this week, and then I hope to be finished with the research. Am trying to get the book put together, starting right after the first of the year.

Stay warm (inside) and well my good friend!

Best,
Karl

Hi Eric,

So good to hear from you. Hope you are doing well this Holiday Season.

Yes, Mike called a few days after you ordered the St. Louis FPL's and I told him they went to you. He mentioned he was going to try and see you soon, and I guess that both of you are happy with the outcome. That's so wonderful!

As far as any other St. Louis S&C material, other than the auction catalogues, I haven't seen anything, nor do I know where to tell you to check. The ANS perhaps? I wonder what type of publication they might be?

Speaking of St. Louis, Mo., right now, I'm in Kansas City, Mo. visiting my friend Steve Tompkins, who is doing all of the graphics on the "Damn Ford Book" (my working title - three four letter words in a row).

The book is written, all the parts are gathered, and we are in the process of putting everything together. We just got into the 1960's and have over 450 pages so far. EGADS! This might be close to 800 pages when all is said and done. I never thought or expected it to be such a monster, but then again, look at the subject matter...

I'm planning on coming back to KC in March and Steve and I hope to put the finishing touches on the book then. Will get it to the printer right after that. I would certainly like to make plans and visit with you on your birthday next year so you can get the first copy!

Take care my friend, and stay well.

Best,
Karl

Hi Eric,

Just returned from 3 days in San Diego and saw your note.

Glad that people you know were spared from the worst of Sandy's wrath.

The book is done, and I'm waiting to hear back from Dave Bowers to see if he has any further suggestions or wants to have some additional input. I sent him a DVD of the book two weeks ago, and he was going to get to it asap. With 900 pages, it takes some time and concentration to wade through it.

My friend Steve Tompkins, who did the graphics, is busy with the index, but we are at a stopping point waiting for Dave. If he wishes to add anything, it will mess up the index, if we add more pages. Plans are to have it at the printer (in Phoenix) before the end of the year. You just hang in there and I promise that I'll get you a book just as soon as one is in my hands. Are you sure you don't want a DVD to review on the computer? If so, just let me know.

Depending on what the schedule is at the printer's, I figure that sometime around March, I can come to St. Louis and personally hand you a copy of the book (if I don't mail you one earlier). Stay tuned, and I'll give you some updates as I find out on this end.

Wishing you the best of everything...

Karl
